

Scavenger Hunt Answers

1) No chasing, no shouting, no teasing or scaring the animals, do not feed the animals, do not stick fingers or other objects inside the enclosures, do not litter, do not pick any plants or other living material

2) The Goeldi's Monkeys

3) Two toes (hooves) on each foot

4) A weather vane

5) South America:, Goeldi's Monkeys

Europe: Fallow Deer, Hermann's Tortoise

Australia: Blue-tongued Skink, Dingoes

Africa:,Meerkats

6) From their short, bobbed tail

7) No (although they will howl)

8) 30,000 quills

9) Snowshoe Hare

10) a) frog c) dinosaur d) eagle e) butterfly f) snake

11) c) herbivore (although omnivores will also eat plants)

12) They are not fed the insects that they find in the wild that allows them to make the toxic secretions

13) Snowy Owls

14) Bison

15) Tropical rainforest

16) Pronghorn, over 80-90 km/h

17) Yes. The female's antlers are smaller.

18) In Lake Malawi in Africa

19) Bison, Brown (Grizzly) Bear (Bison were re-introduced in 1906-1907)

20) Bone. Antlers are the fastest growing bone found in nature.

21) Four – white, brown, brown mottled (brown and white) and dark brown (almost black). You may not see them all!

22) White flank or white rear

23) Ram

24) An amphibian such as a Frog or a toad (on display in the Affinity Discovery Centre)

25) To protect them from the hot sun.

26) Yes, they are excellent swimmers.

27) Vision (eyesight)

28) From Saskatchewan: Black-tailed Prairie Dog, Woodland Caribou, Bison, Brown Bears, From Elsewhere: Goeldi's Monkey, Hermann's Tortoise

29) Camouflage

30) Snow Leopard, Wolf, snakes, Bobcats, Lynx, Brown Bears, etc

31) Balance

32) The female Mouflon Sheep from southern Europe do not have horns. This genetic trait has been incorporated into most of our domestic sheep today

33) In parts of North America, the Brown Bear is known as the Grizzly Bear.

34) The Grizzly or Brown Bear is native to Saskatchewan. The last known Brown Bear in Saskatchewan was shot in 1939.

35) A group of Meerkats is called a "mob"

